The handset controls the remote opening of any of several access points (Front door, back door or garage door) could not be simpler. Connected to an automatic control system or powered by alkaline batteries (With 4 year battery life), the controller does not require any mains supplied power source.

How it works

- 1 - The out door caller unit is connected to the internal controller.
- 2 - The internal controller powers the outdoor caller unit and controls radio transmission to interior handset units.
- 3 - The mobile interior handset units are totally wire free and self powered (Rechargeable on their base). From outside the home, the doors can be opened using the mobile handset units, keypad or proximity tag.
